Staff Toils - Wins Race

The staff for the 1957-58 Trail, after hours and hours of planning and struggling with various aspects of the book, finally succeeded in getting all copy and pictures to the publisher.

The staff wasn't chosen until late, but each department was delegated to different groups who selected the type of work each wanted to do during the entire first semester and part of the second.

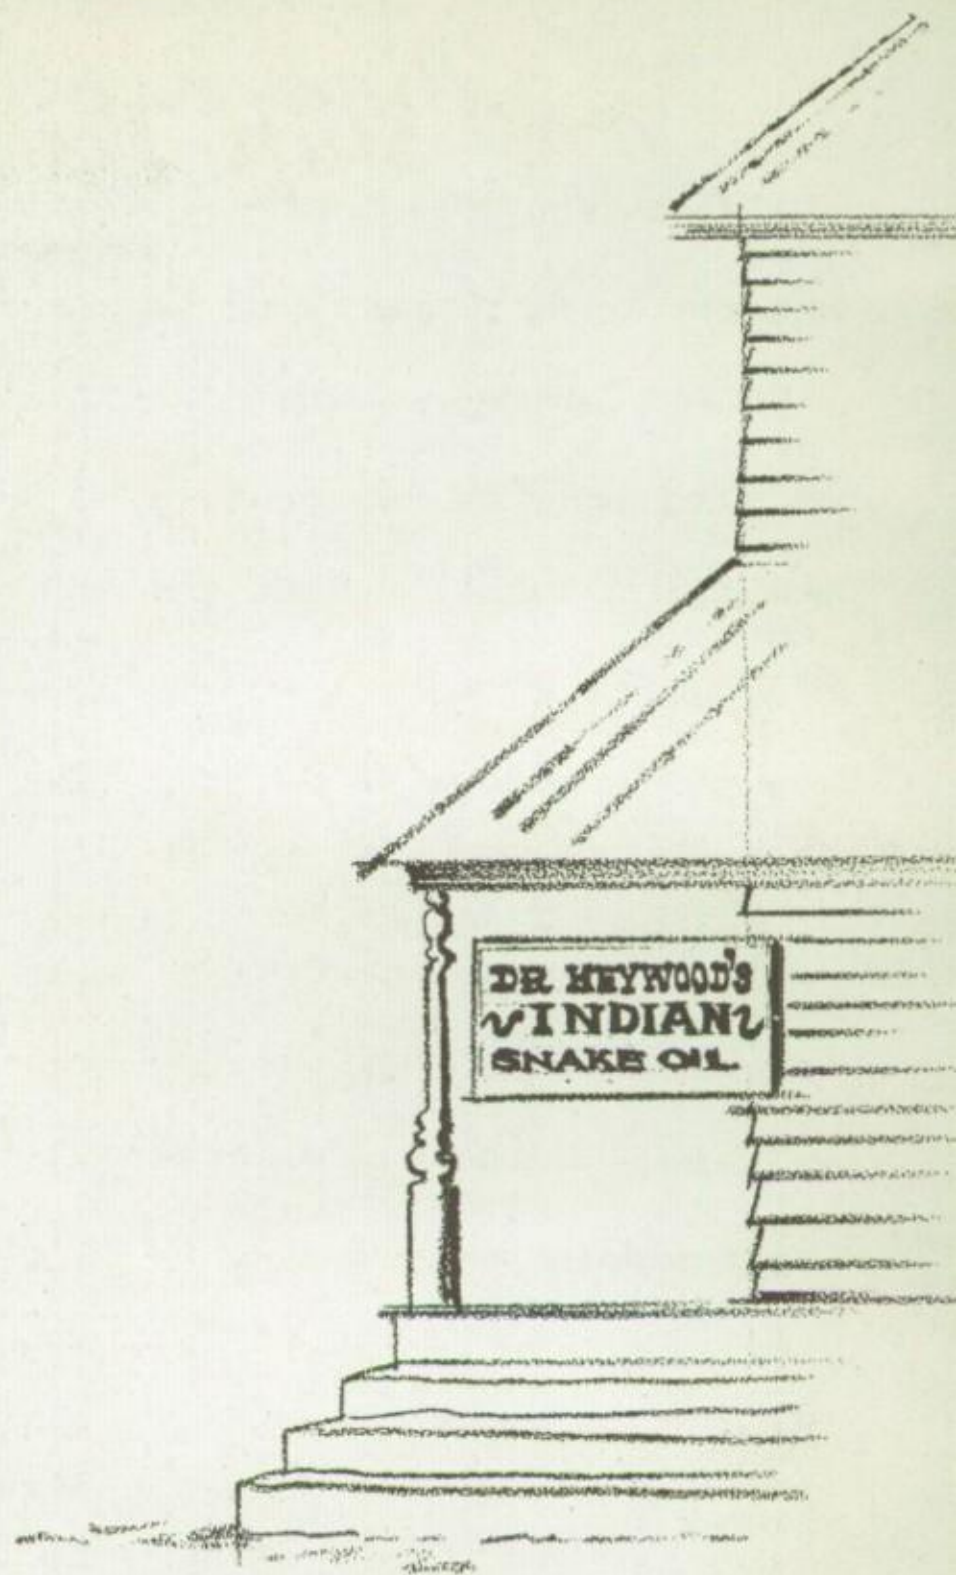

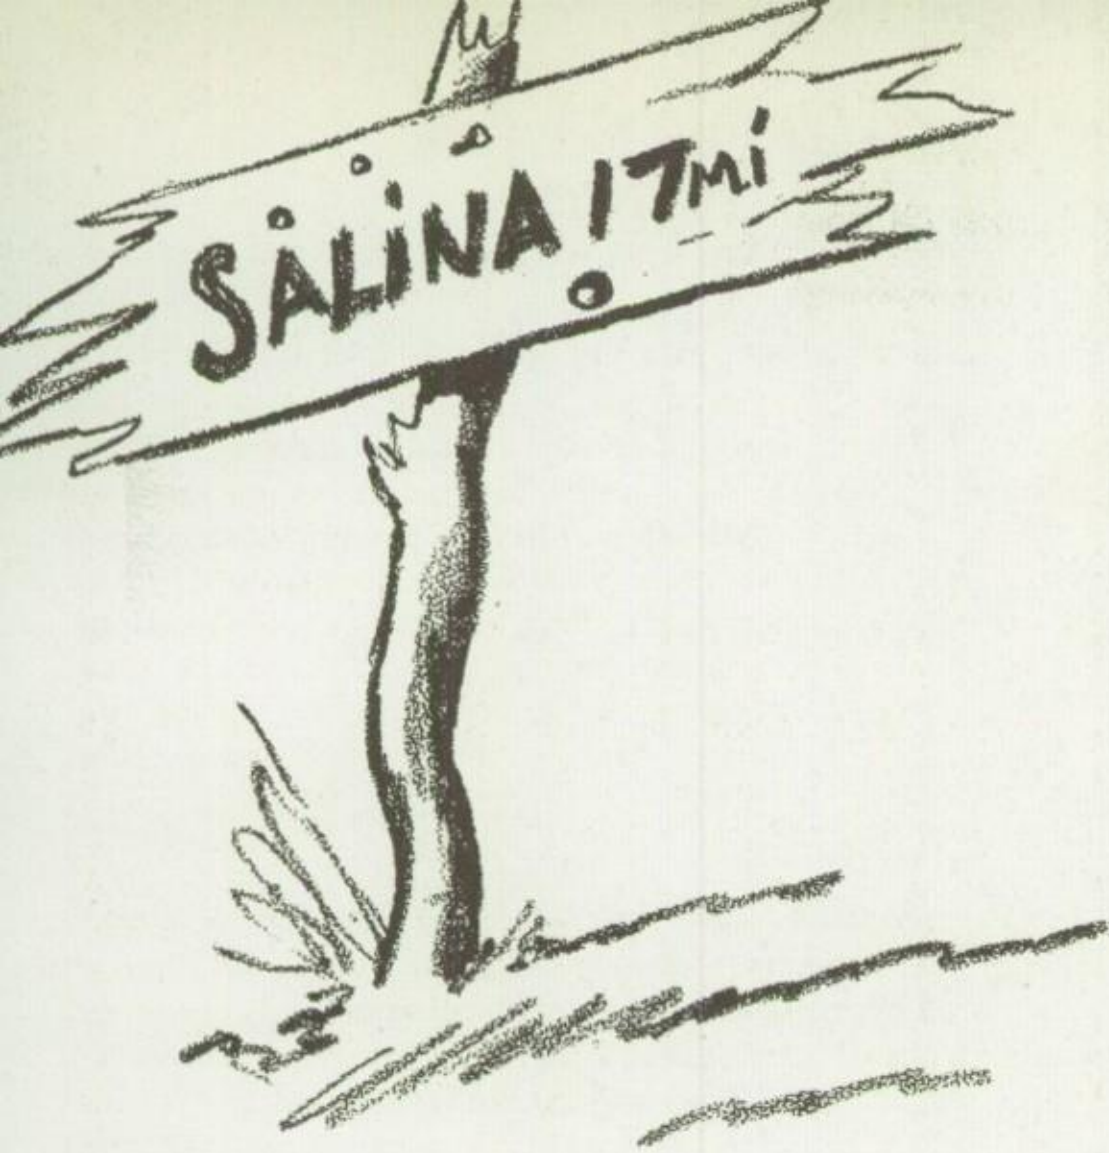

First on the program was the solicitation of advertising which is a vital necessity to publishing the book. Following this three weeks of "down town toil", the group settled down to assigning pictures, making layouts, making up ads, and writing copy.

Each person had a chance to choose the type of work he wished to do and the rush for completion began.

Again the Trail was under the direction of Mr. Aubrey Bilger who counseled with the staff and assisted in every phase of the book. So the staff offers the product of their labors as an addition to the historical library for Salina High.

Salina Reaches Century Mark

"Wagons to Wings" was an accurate selection for the slogan for the Centennial in Salina. Certainly the first settlers found the going easier by the use of wagons for their transportation. In these days Salina, in particular, finds its guests and future home makers arriving almost daily through the use of wings.

In place of the characteristic buffalo wallows scattered about the countryside, now there are runways for the modern plane. Salina, with its natural location for the airborne craft, is no exception for the landing strips for modern aircraft.

Salina first came into notice as a part of the territory, which later became the great state of Kansas, when the area was visited by the Spaniard, Coronado, in the search for the seven cities of gold. Zebulon Pike was the first American to be sent to Kansas officially early in the 19th century and was also the first person to fly the United States flag over the territory now known as Kansas.

Pike was officially sent to the Kansas territory in 1806. During the years from 1806 to 1856 Kansas was a territory inhabited mostly by Indians and buffalo and other wild game.

In 1856 Preston B. Plumb decided the confluence of the Salina and Smoky Hill rivers was the ideal spot to found a settlement. With this idea in mind, a company was organized in Xenia, Ohio, but the idea didn't come to pass because some of the instigators of the settlement felt that the proposed Salina site was too far removed from other centers of population.

In the spring of 1857 publisher Horace Greeley sent Colonel William Phillips to Kansas on a special assignment for the New York Tribune. Phillips was impressed with the location as a potential townsite. But because of the warlike attitude of the Indians, a settlement was not attempted that year.

The name "Salina" is an Indian name for the "place where two rivers meet." At first the name was referred to as "Saleena." In the spring of 1858 Phillips returned with three other men, James Muir, A. M. Campbell and L. O. Jaderborg, to the site at the junction of the two rivers where they found an abandoned cabin. Here they began to establish the location of the present city of Salina.

As in the founding of any new settlement in those days, there were dangerous situations which developed quite frequently. For instance, when Campbell and Muir were digging a well beside the house they had constructed, they were startled by a roar and a cloud of dust which appeared to be coming toward them. Fearing a tornado the two men took shelter in the house. They were even more amazed to find they were in the path of tremendous buffalo stampede. Fortunately for the two men, the herd parted as they came by the house and split into two groups, to leave the cabin with its two scared and shaking occupants unscathed.

The settlement prospered as Indians, soldiers and hunters came to trade for necessities. Following the establishment of a trading post, it was quite natural that a hotel would be built to provide a place for the hunters and trappers to stay for a day or so between jaunts. So in the year of 1859 the first hotel was built.

In this same year Saline County was officially organized by the Territorial Legislature. About this time Salina's first industrial development began with the founding of a sawmill and a grist mill by Colonel Phillips. A little later postal service was established to the new settlement.

During the civil war Salina was invaded by Confederate raiders. The town's only hardware was looted of arms, supplies and a number of horses were taken from settlers. The citizens formed a posse and attempted to capture the trouble makers but were unable to overtake them. Phillips, Muir and Campbell all joined in the hostilities. With Indians still a menace to be reckoned with, the citizens were considerably disturbed when a stage driver reported a band of Indians was approaching. The Indians proved to be a band of buffalo on the prowl.

The nature of the early settlers was demonstrated when a school was demanded by the few parents who had brought children to the new settlement. The first school was established in one of the rooms of the old City Hotel by Ella Thacker in the fall of 1861. The first attempt to have a school found few students, but the idea grew although the first school was of the subscription variety.

The town continued to grow slowly until the spring of 1867 when the Kansas Pacific Railroad came this far. A gala celebration provided excitement for the time being and one of the famous characters of early days in Kansas, to become nationally known, was among the group, James Butler Hickok, who became known as "Wild Bill". He spent some time in Salina but became famous as the marshal of Abilene.

As in most of the frontier settlements, fire was a constant threat and the growing metropolis was no exception. Both in 1871 and 1875 great devastating fires nearly wiped out the community. But some effects were realized from the sad experiences. Stone and brick structures began to be built by those who were determined to stay.

As the city grew, citizens didn't lose sight of the need for education. A grade school was soon built and classes began to thrive. At this time there was little need for a high school.

It wasn't until 1878 that education progressed to the point that a graduation exercise was necessary for the first high school class which consisted of one boy and one girl, Maggie Rash and Arthur Day.

With the graduation of the first class, the town began to dictate a need for a separate high school. The high school soon outgrew the third floor of "Old Central" and was moved to the third floor of the Red Men's building at the corner of Santa Fe and Walnut. The school remained in these cramped quarters for a period of three years.

In 1900 the school acquired its own building, a new two story brick structure on the site of the present Roosevelt Junior High. This building seemed spacious to the admiring students. The second floor consisted of an assembly room, a recitation room, a cloak room and a hall. The shop and manual training rooms were relegated to the basement.

Disadvantages soon developed however, in the new building. Faults in the plan and size for the school became apparent all too soon. People who visited the school complained of the size and construction. The plaster over the assembly room threatened all who entered. It was a frequent happening to have a slab of plaster interrupt the quiet of the room. A new steel ceiling cured the situation.

The obvious inadequacies of this building soon resulted in plans for a new school to be called Washington High. In 1908 work was begun on this fine structure; it was completed by 1909 and on May 20, 1910, the first graduating class, numbering 36, was graduated from the building that was destined to be the high school in Salina for the next 42 years.

When Washington was finished it was the pride of Central Kansas. It contained a large gymnasium with a locker room and showers in the basement. Other rooms on the lower floor were available for shop and manual training. The first floor provided space for the offices, household arts, class rooms, rest rooms and auditorium. The library was placed on this floor along with a large room for study hall. The library was later abandoned for a classroom.

Because of a weakened condition in construction and the lack of adequate fire protection, the top floor at Washington was condemned in 1922. "Dear Ole Washington" with its creaky floors, dinky library, inadequate lighting, and ever falling plaster was destined to bow out of the picture as a high school in 1952 after a record of which to be proud.

Washington was not totally abandoned. Offices were set up for the director of secondary education, the music and health supervisors, and with the assistance of the Sunflower Lions Club a department was established for an education center for youngsters unable to attend regular classes in other regular schools.

In 1878 the first flour mill was erected in the city. This was to become the leading industry in this agriculture center of Kansas. In time Salina became the sixth largest milling center in the United States.

From a population of 919 in 1870 to 3,111 in 1880, the city began to attract more industry and more people. Three railroads saw fit to include Salina in their bid for business from the great plains region. In 1886 the Missouri Pacific had built a line to the city and in the following year, both the Chicago Rock Island and Pacific and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe had reached in the steadily growing business center.

By the time all four railroads had established lines to Salina, the population had grown to more than 6,000. Even a depression failed to seriously retard the trek to the new city and by the end of the century there were more than 9,000 claiming Salina as their home.

Salina grew steadily, sometimes rather slowly, but always people came to make this city their home. By the next decade the population had risen to nearly 10,000. By 1920 the town had grown to a lusty 14,000.

In 1921 the Salina citizens voted to adopt the commission-manager form of government, the type that is still in existence. Within the next few years the city also became the hub of transcontinental highway routes which are known now as highways 81 and 40. With the advent of bus traffic, this proved to be a stroke of good business for the city.

As the city grew, naturally the progressive citizens of Salina began to think more and more of their education problems. In 1903 Phillips school was built to provide room for the elementary enrollment on west Iron. Within three years South Park was added to the elementary school plant.

Two years after the building of Washington, 1910, Hawthorne School was constructed to take care of the expansion toward the northwest of the original townsite. Only two years separated the erection of Hawthorne until Lowell school became a necessity.

The gradual overcrowding of elementary schools and Washington as well as the junior high movement, prompted the building of Lincoln junior high in 1915. The town continued to expand toward the west which made a new school necessary in that territory and Whittier became a reality in 1919. The following year Roosevelt was built to add to the junior high set up. This junior high set up was to take care of all junior high youngsters until the new building was under construction and is to be open by the 1958-1959 school year.

Not only were permanent new schools built, but for several years so called temporary cottages were built to house the overflow for certain schools. It happened that nearly all the temporary structures were in constant use from that day to this and in the meantime many others were built, a program that is still being followed.

Following the construction of Roosevelt, Dunbar, Bartlett, Franklin, Oakdale, and additions to Roosevelt as well as to Hawthorne were all completed within the next decade. All this was completed by the year 1930, the year after the market crash and the beginning of the depression.

There were no additions to the building program for a period of 17 years, until the construction of "the Barn" in 1947.

Following the declaration of war and the selection of Salina as a training base for the air force, the city began to grow by leaps and bounds. From a rather complacent city of 20,000, military personnel and laborers, contractors and allied lines of activity attracted people to Salina by the thousands.

Within the next score of years the population of Salina was to increase approximately 15,000 persons. More businesses were added, houses sprung up all over the area, especially to the south, southwest and later to the southeast. Shopping centers began to be established, buses became a necessity, more streets, more of everything that goes to make a city.

Within this period of expansion, Salina was to build seven new elementary schools, many of them containing many more than the usual seven rooms, a new senior high school and to vote bonds for a new junior high. All this within the short span of eight years.

On Monday evening, October 27, 1952, Superintendent W. M. Ostenberg presided at the dedication ceremonies for the new two and one half million dollar senior high school, erected on a site that had been a wheat field only two years before.

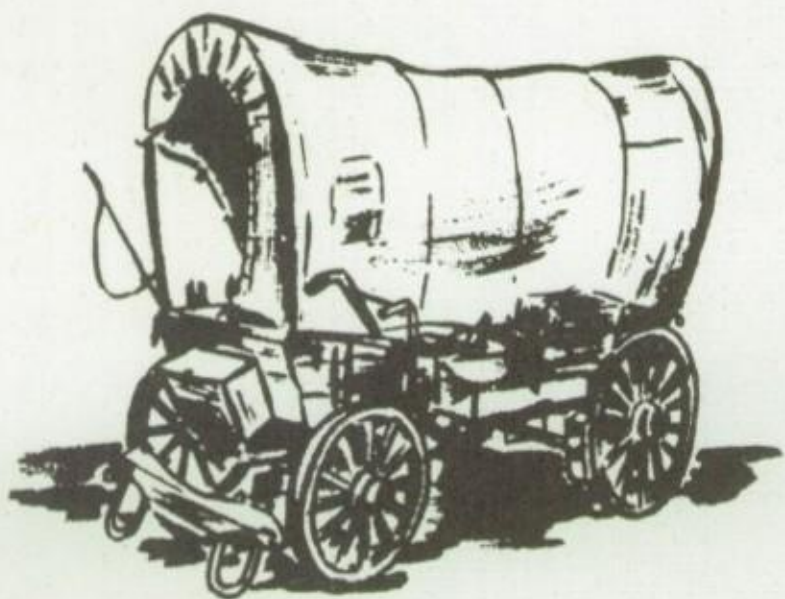

On the following two nights, more than 10,000 citizens wandered through the new building to see what had been added to the Salina schools. The new structure was to have many new features compared to anything that had been seen in Salina high schools.

A new gymnasium with a seating capacity of approximately 3,000 was one of the first things to meet the inquisitive visitor. A library, second to none in the country, was ready to receive scores of new books; well equipped science laboratories for both biological and physical science was a part of the overall plan.

A complete shop section with a feature never before offered in Saline County, rooms for vocational agriculture, and spacious quarters for allied industrial arts subjects.

One of the show spots of the school was a new auditorium with 1,400 permanent seats from which everyone could see and hear any type of production which would be seen on the stage.

This building, after five years of use, is much as it was then except that hundreds more students use the facilities daily than on the opening weeks only six years before.

Managing editor, Vivki Peatling prepares to type a head for feature editor, Marilee Long. Business manager, Susan Wilbur, seems to enjoy the ad she is calling for.

Big News From Small Staff

Although the staff was smaller than usual, the NEWS came out on schedule from week to week. The biggest difficulty during the year was the "flu" epidemic that struck during October.

Since the staff was rather small, there was plenty of work for everyone daily. Duties were evenly divided so all could take part in the daily tasks.

The staff kept at the business of bringing important events to the reading student and parent. There were no regular beats this year, but assignments were carried out through special appointments.

The big change during the year was the burglary story which caused the NEWS to be redone at the last minute.

Faculty

One of the most important men in the Salina Public schools is its Superintendent, Mr. W. M. Ostenberg. On his judgement rests many decisions which must be made concerning the growing Salina school system.

Although he has many duties in his job as Superintendent, he is also active in civic affairs. He is a past president of the Salina Chamber of Commerce and has spoken at the meetings of various groups in the city.

He has an interest in Salina High School athletic activities as well as his favorite sport of golf.

Administration Links School And Community

Without the Board of Education the school system would not have a link with the community. The Board meets with Superintendent W. M. Ostenberg every month in order to promote better education through the city school system.

For the 29 years that Mr. W. W. Waring has been associated with the Salina school system, faculty and students both have many times appreciated his interest in their educational problems. Mr. Waring has held many jobs in Salina's educational program including principal of Salina High School, Superintendent of Schools and his present capacity as Director of Secondary Education. He is also very active in church and civic as well as in educational circles.

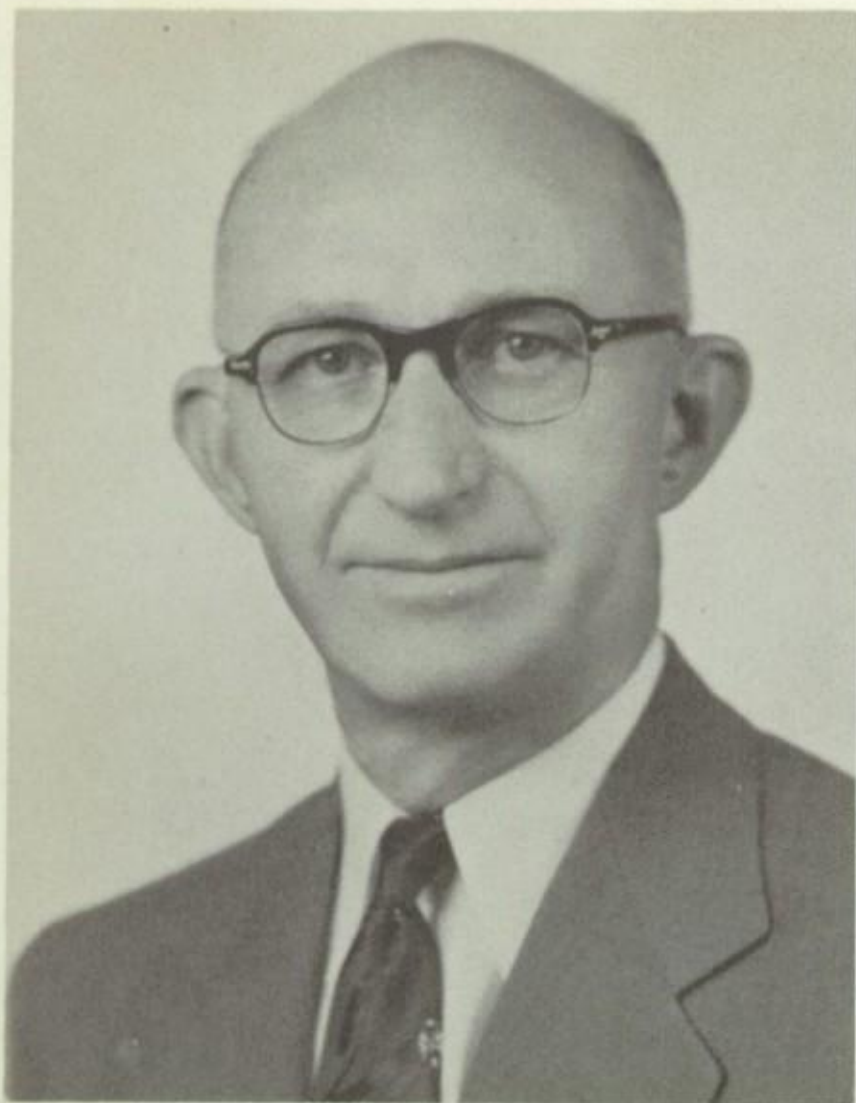

W. W. WARING
Director of Secondary Education

OWEN E. HODGSON
Principal of Salina High School

Much of the credit for the smoothness and efficiency in the administration of Salina High School is due to its principal, Mr. Owen E. Hodgson. Mr. Hodgson's many duties include: appointing faculty committees, supervising enrollment, approving and organizing various groups, and organizing the curriculum.

He plays a very active part in civic and educational affairs and although he devotes a great deal of time to his work, he is always in attendance at Salina High events and activities.

W. E. SIMPSON
Assistant Principal

As Dean of Girls most of the time for Miss Dorothy Andrews is taken up with attendance problems for girls and counseling with them. She teaches two hours of American History and helps with cafeteria supervision. She is also chairman of Y-Teen sponsors and is in charge of Usherettes.

Secretary

The new Guidance and Counseling program in Salina High is under the supervision of Mr. Arthur Miller. Besides counseling students, he supervises the testing program and interprets the results. His advice relative to college preparation and vocational aptitude is eagerly sought by many senior high students.

Student Council

The Student Council's main project for the '57-'58 school year was sponsoring this year's exchange student, Monica Ehnbon from Sala, Sweden.

Monica came to us under the auspices of the American Field Service. She was preceded in 1955 by Erik Sverrer from Denmark, and last year by Hanna Bracker from Germany.

Also under the American Field Service program Salina High Students may journey to foreign lands to spend a summer learning about the life and customs of these countries.

Last summer two students, John Snowday and Robert Taylor, were selected to participate in the program. John spent the summer in the Netherlands, while Robert visited Germany.

"Let's keep the show on the road," might have been the motto for the 1957-1958 Student Council. Under the leadership of a very efficient corps of officers, the Stuco aggregation was a busy group.

Beside the ordinary duties of assisting with the school functions, the Council provided the student body with directories, decorated goal posts for football games, helped with class elections, provided for a needy family for Christmas, sent representatives to two district meetings and assisted with many visiting delegations by acting as guides.

The Council provided an attractive assembly program during the year, kept the new bulletin board up to date and voted to assist with financing a new score board for the football stadium.

All homecoming activities were handled by the Student Council along with the band and cheerleaders.

In addition to all these activities the Council sponsored the concession stands and assisted with the finances of all three classes. "Yep, the show kept right on a moverin'."

The sophomores had a rock-in' time at their sophomore party for this year. The music was all played by a juke box which rocked out records of the most famous kind, shape, and voices. In between dancing and talking. They would go to the good old pop cooler and get more refreshments. Of course, all this was furnished by the sophomore class. So they really enjoyed it. After all the excitement was over, they all dragged themselves to their home grounds to trouble their folks.

One of the chief projects for the Hi-Y was the Model Legislature. Salina was well represented at the meeting at the State Capitol. Larry McReynolds was elected Chief Justice, Clark Marshall and Ben Langel were chosen Senators, Duane Johnson was the Sargeant of Arms, and the following boys were elected Representatives: Art Busche, Jim Schneider, Jim Dilly, Ronald Swenson, Dick Worley, Rex Romeiser, and Allan Williams.

Other activities of the Hi-Y consisted of participation in the Thanksgiving and Easter religious services, sponsoring programs for more than 200 boys every second and fourth Wednesdays and helping to sponsor the annual Sweetheart dance. The Hi-Y is the organization for boys which is devoted entirely to the principles of Christian living. On Wednesdays when the entire group did not meet, the cabinet met to plan programs.

Y-Teens at Salina High is the largest organization in the school. More than 400 girls are listed among the members. Several activities are undertaken by this group including a fall get-acquainted party, selling mums for homecoming, participating in the services for Easter and Thanksgiving and cooperating in the Hi-Y, Y-Teen party. To raise money the members sold pop corn at all home football games.

At Christmas the Y-Teens bought toys for the children's wards at each of the hospitals. A party for all girls to honor the senior girls is also a part of the activities program each spring.

Each first and third Wednesday of the month was designated as the general meeting time. On other Wednesdays the cabinet met to plan for the general meetings.

Every student in Distributive Education belongs to the D. E. Club. Beside attending classes each day all students are required to spend 20 hours each week working in down town business establishments.

Students who are employed are graded by their employers as well as by the D. E. Director, Mr. Victor Klotz. Through the active participation in regular business training, the students acquire many of the necessary skills, information and attitudes which they will need in their life work.

The D. E. Club sponsors a student store in the D. E. room, 121. The store is open during the morning hours for students to purchase small articles for class use. Club members cooperate in the management of the store.

The big social highlight of the year is the employer-employee banquet at which the employees are hosts to their employers.

The club usually sponsors a party at Christmas time or some other holiday.

Organized in the fall of 1955, the Kate B. Miles Chapter of the Future Teachers Club, has continued to grow. It has become associated with the Kansas State Teachers Association in a junior capacity.

This fall 65 aspiring candidates for classroom experience became members of the local club. During the fall and again in the spring each member visited various elementary schools to see how teaching is done.

The club which has been sponsored by Miss Virginia Weisgerber and Mr. Arnold Lehmann meets every other Thursday during the activity period. Various types of programs, mostly guest speakers, have been presented.

Future Nurses Meet, Visit, Listen, Give

The Future Nurses met once a month this year. They had guest speakers from different hospitals and medical organizations concerning the nursing profession. They visited the Marymount College to find out about nursing courses. For Christmas, their project was giving gifts to the old folks home.

At the end of the year they donated money to different medical research funds. Three graduates of 1957 who are now attending St. Lukes returned to tell the girls of the many fields that were open to girls with the ambition to become nurses.

In October, the F.F.A. attended the District Leadership School at Buehler, Kansas. Salina placed second in the Information Contest. They also received a blue ribbon for placing in the Ritualistic Contest.

At the Kansas State Fair in Hutchinson the F.F.A. placed third in the Farm Machinery Exhibit.

Later in the year they participated in dairy, animal husbandry, and farm mechanics contests on the district and state levels in the spring. The F.F.A. will be trying to do better than last year. The boys' records last year were two third places, one second, and one sixth.

Every year each member of the Up and Atom science club is required by membership rules to develop an original scientific project, and report on it at one of the meetings. In this way the abilities of the members are brought out. These projects are eligible to be entered in the annual Science Fair and Jr. Academy of Science competition which are held at Marymount College, March 21, 22, and 23.

The Club, which is nine years old, meets every other Monday evening at 7:00. It started in the Junior High with Mr. A.G. Williams as the sponsor and has developed into the Up and Atom Science Club of Salina High School.

The Dramatics Club is more than an organization to produce the D-Club play each year. This group is made up of the top actors and stage hands in the junior and senior classes. The 20 seniors who carry over for each given year elect 20 new senior members after the production of the senior play. Following the junior play another 20 are chosen to bring the membership to the limit of 60 and allow the membership 40 for the following year.

This group helps with all phases of dramatic productions: assistant director, script girls, make-up artists, scenery builders, lighting technicians, lighting engineers, property crews and costume crews.

From this group, Thespians are chosen for outstanding work in dramatics productions which come under the supervision of Director Jack Kelly.

After class plays have been produced during the year, the D-Club puts on a play of its own in which the experienced drama artists take all the responsibilities for the production.

The Pep Club members attended the thirteen home games during the football and basketball seasons. They are required to wear maroon skirts, white sweaters and the Pep Club emblem which is furnished by each member.

Officers are elected by the club members. The president must be a senior, vice president, a junior, and secretary treasurer a sophomore. The officers are in charge of all pep assemblies and taking roll at all the home games. Miss Joan Lorson, Miss Dorothy Andrews, and Miss Leah Coyne were the sponsors.

As in former years, the students in French classes I and II have consolidated to form the French Club. Patterned after functions held in the past the activities this year consisted of an annual crepe suzette party in Kenwood Park in the fall. The crepe suzettes were prepared by the French Club members. The club also holds a Mardi Gras Dance in the Spring in the gymnasium, to add to the splendor of the dance, all attending wore masquerade costumes. Monica Ehnbon, this year's A.F.S. student showed a film of Paris for the French Club's portion in the All Language Christmas Party.

La Comparsita, Spanish Club to the general public, was composed of 48 students in Spanish I and Spanish II classes. The group was sponsored by Miss Alicia Maya who taught her first year in Salina.

The group learned Spanish songs to be sung at their annual outing in April. A favorite "Las Maranita", which was a serenade type of song, was among those learned for the spring party.

The club chose to undertake organizing activities for Mexican children in the city as a project. The project was worked out with the cooperation of the Americanization Center. Members of the club read stories to the children and taught them games which could be played indoors or on the outside.

The group also participated in the All-language Christmas party in December.

German Club

One of the most active clubs in Salina High is the German Club, under the sponsorship of Mr. Arnold Lehmann who organized the club in 1951.

The club has two social functions; the Kaffeeklatsch, featuring German food, held in the fall in the cafeteria to raise funds for the Foreign Exchange Student; and, the Gemulichkeitsfest held in the spring.

Other activities during their busy year are the singing of Christmas carols in German, by request or invitation, participation in the all language Christmas party and picnic in the spring.

Activities

Elizabeth Riedell and Larry Byers were elected Representative Girl and Boy, respectively, by the seniors and faculty. The basis for selection is leadership, scholarship, dependability, fellowship and integrity. Elizabeth was active in many organizations and took part in many activities. She was elected DAR Good Citizen, had the lead in the musical shows, and was chosen vocalist for the Symphonettes. She was also an attendant to the Queen, member of the French Club, a member of Future Teachers and the Pep Club. "Liddy", as she is known to her classmates, was president of Y-Teens.

Larry Byers has been very active in athletics. This year he has served as president of the Letterman's Club and was chosen King at the annual Sweetheart dance. Larry won letters in both wrestling and football. In wrestling he took second in the state after winning a first place medal in the regionals.

Donna Dunlap, as one of the runnersup for Representative Girl, was active in the pep club, and served as president in 1957-58, a top student, interested in dramatics and a friend to everyone.

"Prexy" John Mitchell headed the Student Council in his senior year. He was a runnerup for Representative Boy. John also took part in football, winning a letter, and was one of the top debaters in Salina High.

Another of the runnersup, Ann Morgenstern, had many interests in school. She was interested in dramatics, foreign languages, science and Y-Teen. One of her chief interests was Future Nurses Club.

Robert Taylor, one of the foreign exchange students, beside being president of Hi-Y, had time for basketball, madrigal and was sports editor of the News. Bob was one of the 12 boys who was originally nominated for Representative Boy.

Officers elected by the National Honor Society group were; left to right: Ben Langel, president; Sherwin McMichael, vice president; Ann Morgenstern, secretary; and Kay Wright, treasurer.

Fifteen percent of the graduating class were eligible for membership in the National Honor Society. From the top one third of the senior class, scholastically, the faculty elected 39 members on the basis of leadership, scholarship, character and service. The election was conducted under the direction of Principal Owen Hodgson, on Wednesday, March 5.

Following the election, the group was introduced to the students and faculty at a special assembly. Principal Hodgson conducted the election which resulted in the choosing of the four officers pictured on this page. The group was formally inducted into the society on Tuesday, April 15.

Sunflower Girls' State is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary. It was held on the University of Kansas campus from June 9 to June 16. Its purpose is to promote citizenship, a better understanding of government, and interest in civic affairs among the young women of the state.

A mock state, county, and city government was set up. Everything was done authentically, starting with the campaign, primary election, general election, and ending with government in motion.

Elizabeth Riedell was chosen by the Daughters of the American Revolution to be the good citizen of the year. The senior girls voted on the candidates in the government and problems classes.

Dee Johnson won the Betty Crocker contest for the 1957-58 school year. Every senior girl is eligible to take the test which covers all phases of home economics.

Experiences at Boys State will be remembered for many years. The week spent at Wichita North High School was quite an experience for five Salina High seniors. The purpose is to emulate actual government conditions with elections, cities and other unit organizations. Officers are elected according to protocol and activities are worked out in a democratic fashion. The final fling is the ever popular Governor's Ball, to which the boys may invite their parents and dates.

To All, Entertain Many

The main purpose of the vocal music department is to entertain the public, not only that of Salina, but also that of surrounding towns. This is accomplished by taking tours to towns in and out of the C. K. L. Also in the spring most of the department attends the C. K. L. clinic, in which all choirs of all Cague schools participate.

Madrigal is the group made up of all the top vocalists in Salina High. Besides being a part of this chorus, most members are soloists in their own right. Combined with Symphonettes they comprise the Symphonaires. The main event performed by this organization is a tour, taken this year after the return to school from Christmas vacation. Madrigal members are required to take part in the musical, this year, "South Pacific".

The A capella choir was composed of an original forty-nine members consisting of students of all classes, sophomore, junior, and senior. On special performances, the A capella choir joins with Chansonaires, Harmonaires, and Madrigal, as they did in March for their tour and concert. Guest soloist for the concert was Miss Patricia Wooster, Salina High graduate. The concert was held March twenty-eighth during the District Music Festival.

One of the most distinctive organizations in the department is Chansonaires an all — girl group. Their name is taken from the French word "chanson", "to sing". The girls all belong to the same class in school, a tradition begun in 1956. These girls have done fine work plus many outside performances. In all there are about 100 singers take part in the several organizations. All vocal music is under the direction of Mr. Paul Ryberg. For special musical productions he was assisted by Mr. Jack Kelly, director of dramatics and Mr. Olin Parker, director of instrumental music. Beside the production of "South Pacific" for the local music lovers, these groups presented many concerts for various organizations in Salina. There were several recitals in which individuals and ensembles from these music groups participated.

The Symphonettes dance band again this year consisted of the lead chair players in band and orchestra. This fine group played dances at Cherokee, Abilene and Hutchinson, as well as dances for many school functions. Under the direction of Olin Parker and John Cooper the Symphonettes also made two television performances.

Using "Lean Baby" as their theme song this group turned to playing a slightly progressive style of jazz in the latter part of the year. This style combined with their competence to play "sweet" sounding numbers proved the Symphonettes for the 1957-58 year were again a great sounding versatile group.

Musical "Smash Hit"

With a cast which consisted of literally hundreds of people, "South Pacific" was a smash hit. The audience splashed over into the aisles for both performances.

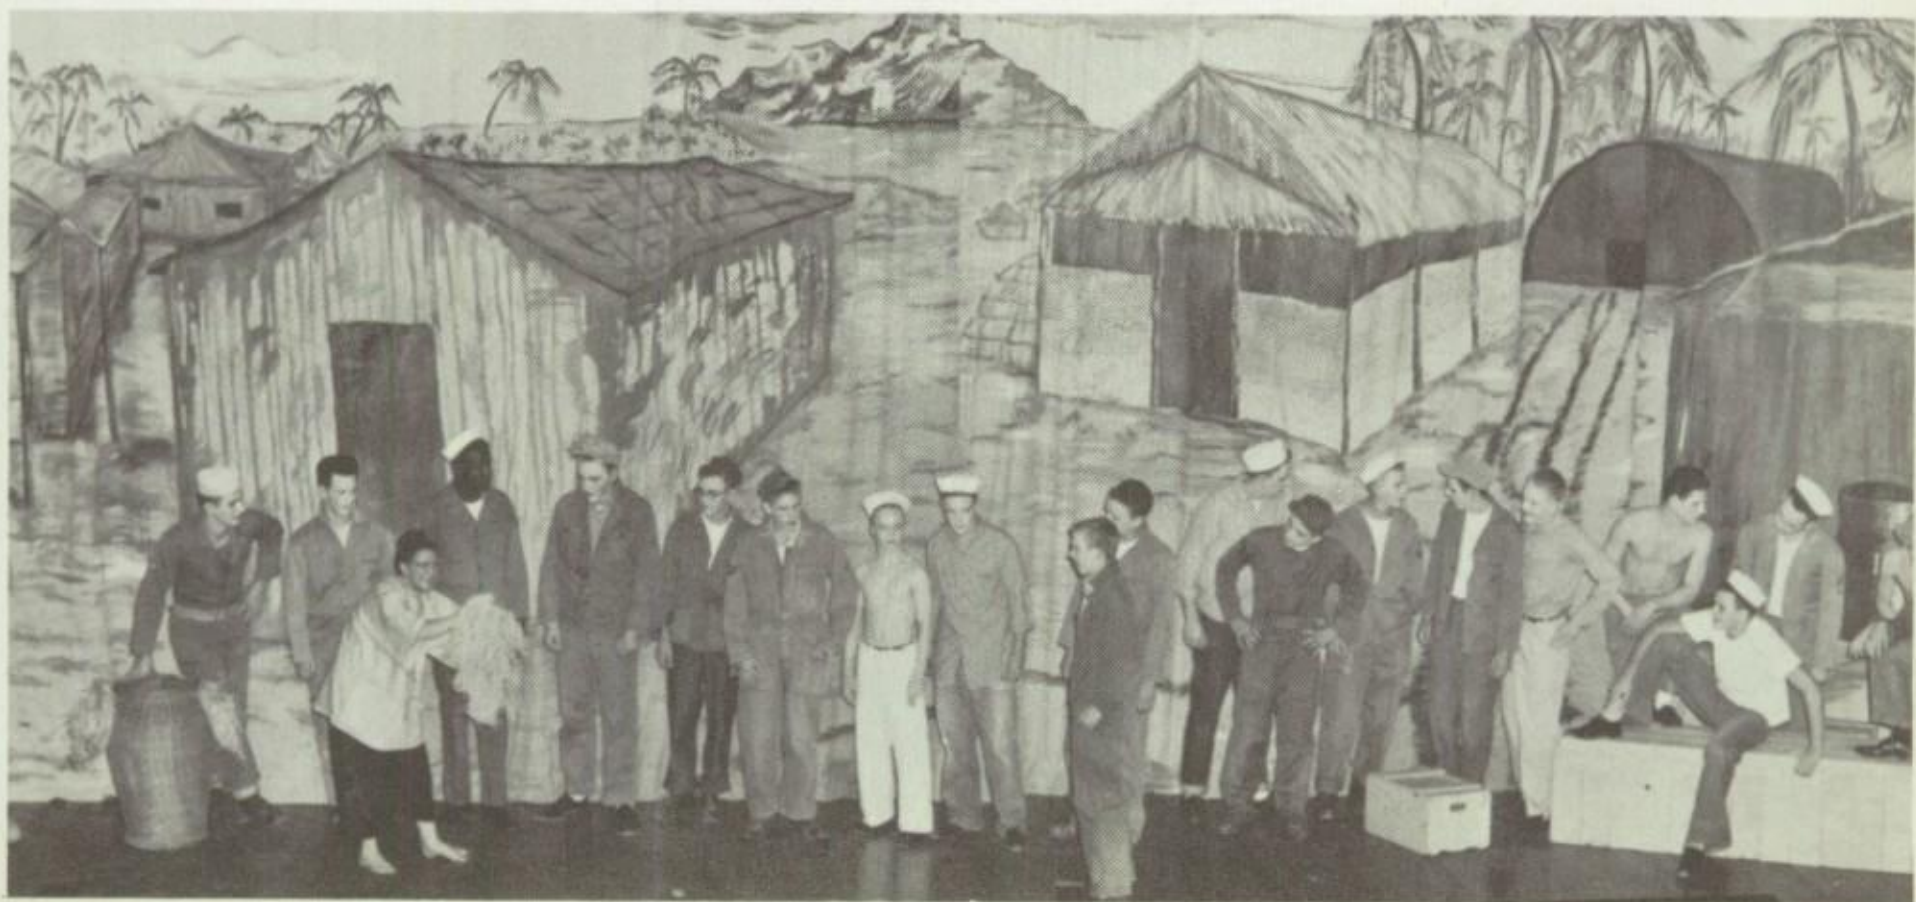

Getting uniforms and other unusual properties for a dry land production of this famous Rogers and Hammerstein musical proved to be an interesting project for the properties crew.

The cast began working on this production in the summer before school began in September. Many sets were constructed by the crews and numerous scenes were painted to make the production one of the best in a long line of Salina High musical successes.

Directors for the production included Mrs. Robert Caldwell, choreography; Mr. Jack Kelly, dramatics; Mr. Olin Parker, instrumental music; and Mr. Paul Ryberg, vocalists.

Kay Wright had the honor of being crowned Queen for the 20th annual Homecoming on Friday, October 11, 1957. During the half time ceremonies of the Abilene-Salina High football game, while Dick Worley played "I'm Getting Sentimental Over You," John Mitchell, president of the Student Council, placed the coveted crown on her head and sealed the pact with a kiss.

Attendants to the Queen were Kay Scholten, Donna Dunlap, Barbara Snead and Elizabeth Riedell. The attendants along with her majesty reigned over the second half of the game which found the Mustangs honoring their Queen with a 26-13 victory.

The entire Court received gifts from the Student Council and were guests at a dance in the Queen's honor after the game. Each of the girls received gifts from the Cherokee Council at the dance.

Salina has the distinction of having a well balanced athletic program. According to general standards, there are three major sports — football, basketball and track. To complete the program boys may also participate in wrestling, cross country, tennis and golf.

A full schedule, including games for B squads in football and basketball, is maintained for each sport. There are also matches for the B wrestling squad. The competing teams play a total of some 80 contests during each year.

Teams are normally under the direction of the 10 coaches supervised by Director of Athletics, P. L. Phillippi. Coaches pictured on these pages are responsible for the success of our complete sports program.

The 1957 Mustang football team under Head Coach Mike Davis finished with a 2-6-1 record. Davis received able assistance in his coaching duties from experienced Paul Zerger and a former Salina and Kansas Wesleyan star, Kaye Pierce. Although the final record was not impressive; the Mustangs' play at times was of championship caliber. Highlighting the season were the decisive wins over Abilene 27-13 before a homecoming audience of about 2000, and their initial home start against McPherson 12-6. They closed the season with a 0-0 tie with the traditional foe, Manhattan.

Starting the season with 50 boys, the Mustang B football team came through with a most successful season, winning five and losing one, the last game of the season. Bad weather caused three games to be cancelled during the season.

The team was composed mostly of sophomores and seemed to get better as the season progressed until the final test which saw the junior Mustangs taking their worst beating in several seasons.

Coach Goering wound up the season with 26 boys on the squad, all of them sophomores and all received certificates for their play during the season. Four of the boys were able to letter on the A squad: Fairchild, Householter, Taylor and Daniels.

During the season the team amassed a total of 127 points to 58 for the opposition, with two of the contests resulting in shutouts.

Mustangs Try Hard

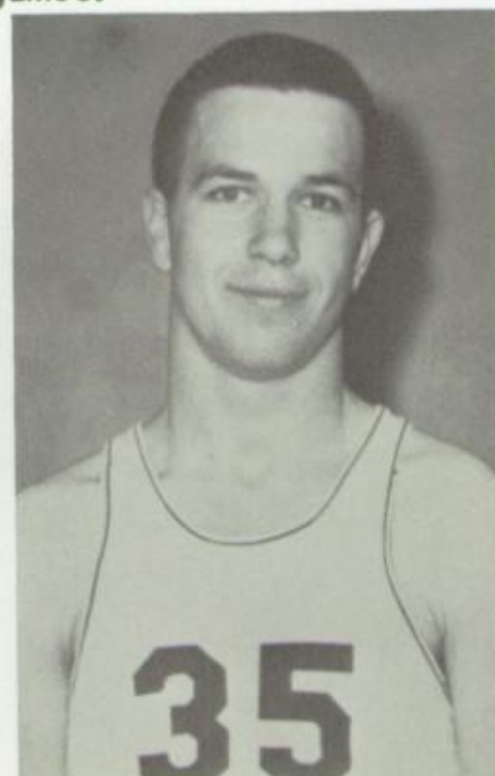

Coach Bill Lobdell and Coach "Dutch" Goering started picking the Salina Mustangs in early workouts. The Mustangs were not able to start their practices 'till football season was over or until November 10th. The team quickly started taking shape and the boys made a good showing. The Mustangs' first foe for the season was the Topeka Trojans. The game was a very close one with the Mustangs pacing the Trojans all the way. The final score was Salina 60 and the Trojans 63. Next on the list was McPherson and the Mustangs won the game 69 to 52. The team started looking a little cold and were downed for 7 straight games.

But Going Is Tough

The Mustangs kept fighting and soon won against Great Bend 41 to 38. That sparked the Mustangs and they were ready and waiting for the Kansas City Invitational Tournament which was coming up next. The Mustangs played the opener with Wichita North and were beaten by 7 points. Wyandotte then won their game and faced Wichita North. Salina was still in the running and they played Parsons. Salina trounced the Parson team by 23 points which placed them in 3rd place. Illness and injuries hampered the team during the entire season.

The little Mustangs had a great season this year. They are a very promising team for the future. Of course they are short on height, but that doesn't compose the whole team. The little Mustangs play before every "A" game, unless it is in a tournament. "Dutch" Goering, the coach, has done a wonderful job with the assistance of John Ryding the teams' manager. The little Mustangs won 11 out of 16 games.

Grapplers Exhibit

The Salina High Wrestling team has done more than good for the year 1957-58. They showed excellent wrestling ability. They won 8 and lost only 2.

The wrestling team started practice kind of late this year. They had a match very early in the season which meant they trained and worked hard to meet the demand. After winning this they were still a very scrappy bunch. The grapplers kept right on winning. But they couldn't win all of them. A downfall finally came when they faced Wichita West. Six boys went to the State Tournament and two of them won second places.

Coach William Lundy lost seven seniors off his regular first string: Larry McReynolds, Richard Gawith, Fred Good, Bill Loflin, Roger VanCleeef, Larry Byers and Jack Moss.

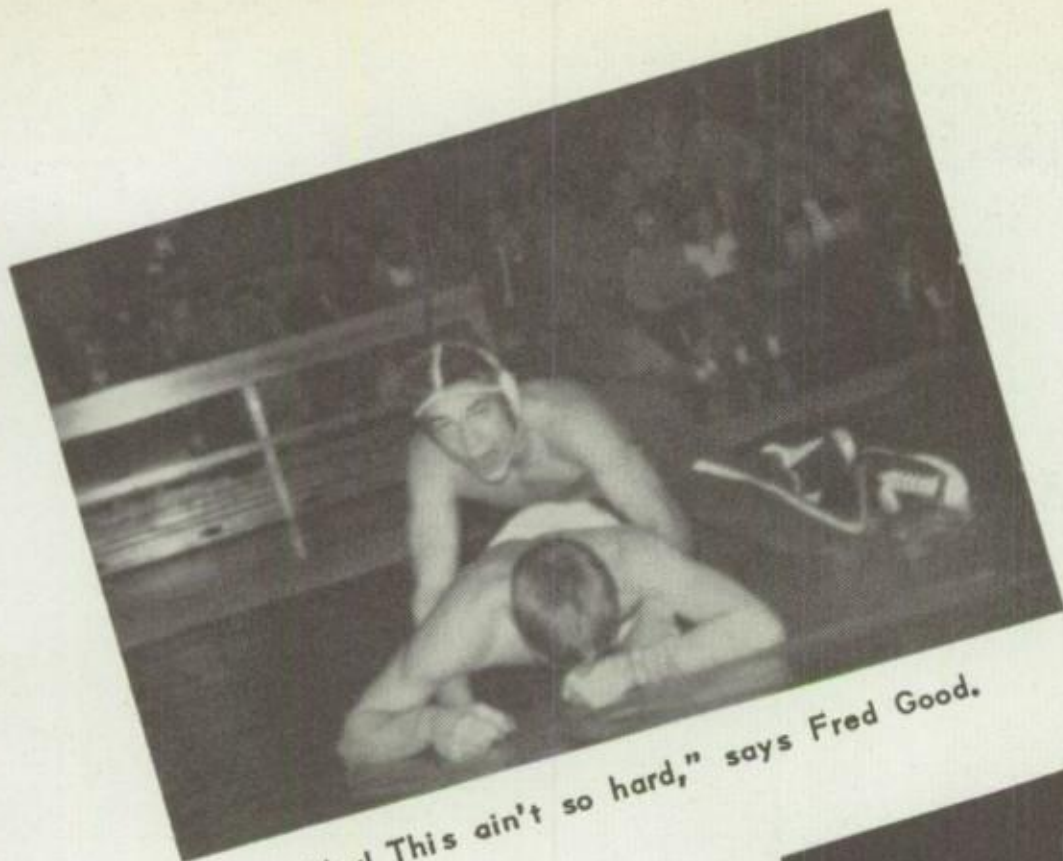

Larry Byers, 157 pounds, took second place in the state. He lost only one match during the season. Fred Good, 141 pounds, lost his only match at the state meet, also taking second place.

Salina placed second to Wichita East in the regional and qualified six wrestlers. Beside Byers and Good, Arlen Keith, Richard Gauith, Larry McReynolds, and Bill Ritterhouse.

Snow Delays Thinclads

Due to snow and rain, the thinclads were not able to get on the track until almost the first meet at Manhattan. Starting with but four lettermen, Jack Moss, Darrell Elder, Roger Van Cleef and Richard Rose. Coach Mike Davis was delighted to see some 30 track aspirants appear for the first workout of the season. The Mustangs have high hopes of placing higher than third this season in the CKL. They placed third last spring.

C C Takes Second

The cross country team under the coaching of Max Dye brought home the first athletic trophy of the year when they placed second in the CKL cross country run at Emporia. The Spartans took first place on their own course with the Mustangs coming in a close second.

In the first meet of the year, also at Emporia, the Mustangs lost to the Spartans by a narrow margin. The Mustang runners missed getting into the state by a narrow margin at the regional cross country meet at Wichita.

During the season the CC boys won from Junction City twice and had one of their better seasons. For the Mustangs Jim Scholten was consistently the first man to the tape.

Golfers Start With 4 Lettermen

Dick Worley

Dick Haitbrink

Rex Romeiser

Max Rhodenbaugh

Coach Emice Dyck was greeted by 21 golf hopefuls including four junior lettermen, pictured above. Little time was available for practice before the opening match due to snow and wet weather. Four invitational meets were on the schedule: March 28 at Manhattan; April 3 at Wichita; April 11 at Salina;

April 17 at Eldorado and April 24 at Hutchinson. The CKL meet was scheduled for Manhattan on April 30 and the regional on May 9 at Salina. The state meet was scheduled for May 16 and 17 at Hutchinson. Dual meets were also played with McPherson, Abilene and Junction City.

Tennis

Has One Letterman

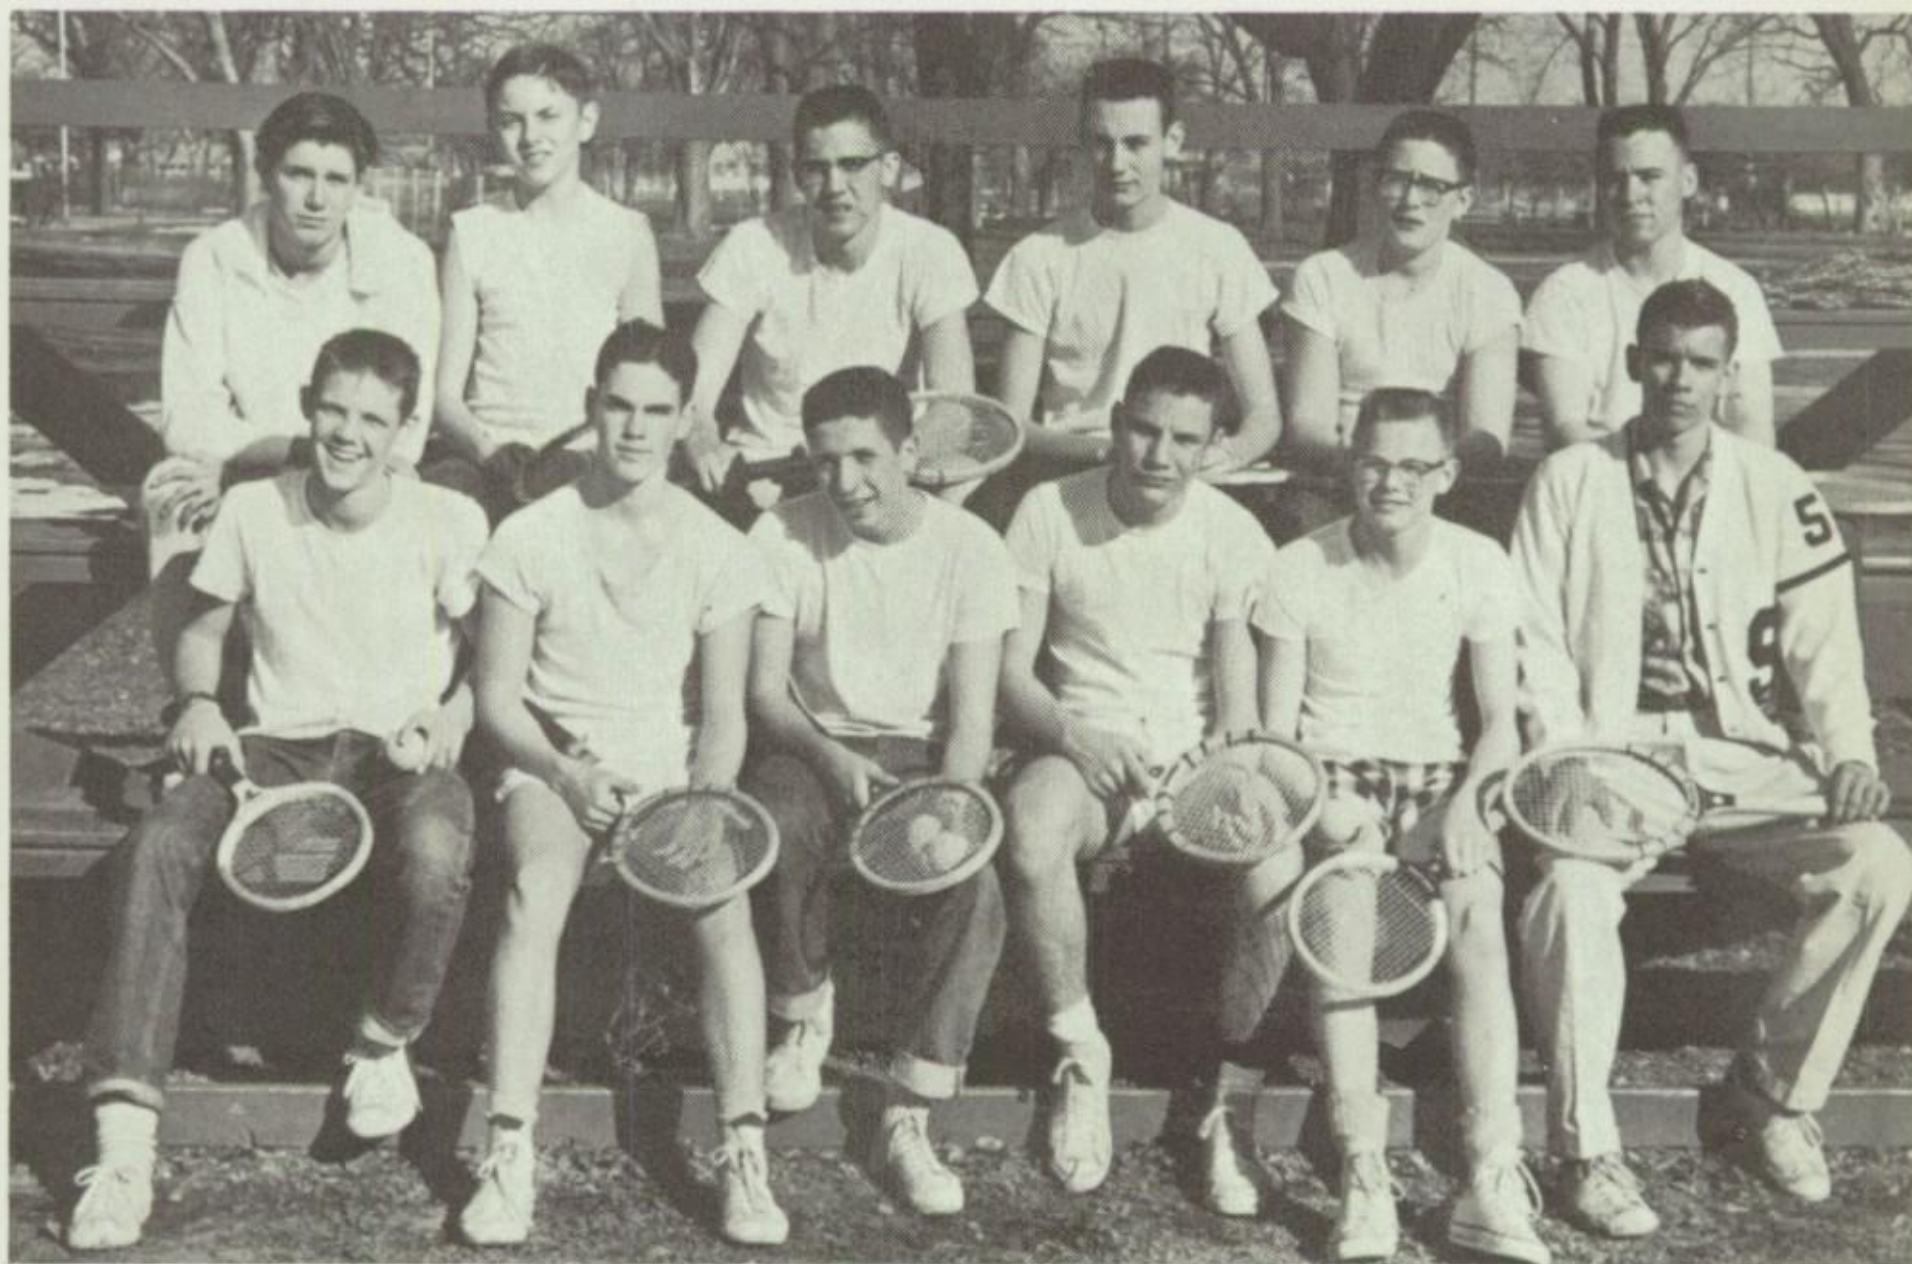

Twelve boys reported to Coach Carl Mibeck, including letterman John Mills, to start the court season. Due to inclement weather, the racket weilders had to work out in the gym for several days.

Eleven matches were on the tennis schedule, including the opener with Minneapolis scheduled for Salina on March 25. This match was followed by single matches with Manhattan, Junction City, Minneapolis, Abilene and Junction City. The first big meet was scheduled at Hutchinson, an invitational affair, for April 25. The CKL meet was scheduled for Manhattan on May 6 followed by the regional at Salina on May 9 and the state at Wichita on May 16.

Coach Mibeck hopes to build a strong tennis team, starting with one letterman, a junior, and several promising sophomores and a few freshmen.

John Mills

Activities Available To All

The Latin Banquet is a social highlight where students and faculty members gather to eat Latin style and sit uncomfortably to impress students by ancient customs.

An example of work done by art department for many indoor social events.

Beside the educational opportunities offered through careful class schedules, many social and recreational activities are planned and carried out by clubs and the Student Council. Salina High offers a rounded program in which every student is urged to take part in at least one outside activity.

Getting ready for the Science Fairs is a serious business for all science students.

Even the faculty gets into the act as in this case the Sweetheart dance and party sponsored by the Hi-Y and Y-Teen.

Brookville Hotel

SINCE 1870

The Brookville Hotel, located at the foot of the rolling hills of Central Kansas and on the bank of a stream, is in its 88th year serving traditionally good food to all.

"Wagons to Wings" is also a good slogan for the hotel. When it was first opened the railroad was an important item and many who worked on the extension of the Union Pacific lines ate at the well known stone building which faced to the rising sun on one of Brookville's main streets.

Wagon trains stopped and riders made the hotel their headquarters in many early day cattle drives.

Down through the years the hotel has survived drouth, grasshopper invasions, stampedes, floods and the slipping rail transportation.

The hotel maintains a rustie atmosphere where one can get all he can eat for a reasonable price and served family style. Many of the great and near great have been guests through the years: statesmen, entertainers, ministers and financial wizards have been numbered among the guests.

The welcome sign hangs out for young and old alike. One may dine in comfort and quiet and be assured of one of the best chicken dinners it is possible to get anywhere.

Your Kansas travels have not been complete until you have visited and consumed a chicken dinner at the Brookville Hotel-since 1870.

Dearest Jim,

I hope you don't mind me taking up all this space!

The past years have all been a lot of fun and yet, at times they've been pretty disappointing! This year especially!

I know you'll learn to love Wichita, as I hope to love Kansas City! Just always give everyone your best with Jim, (and believe me "you've got one"!

Everyone here is pretty disappointed in the, but trails (pictures, covers & etc.) I hope it helps to bring a lot of good memories of Salina High and students to you anyway!

Write often and I'll try to do the same!

Bye, Be good!

Love,

Dottie

P.S. I wish you could sign my trail! It will seem awful funny without your X on it!
